Mount Everest has again to the efforts of man.

The Calcutta correspondent of the Dairy Telegraph today confirms previous reports that Brigadier General C. G. Bruce, head of the present expedition, has been forced to the conclusion that persistence in the effort to scale the peak would only result in useless tragedy.

General Bruce was most reluctant to abandon further attempts, but the condition in which the two last climbing parties returned, the advice of his medical officers and the certainty of worse weather conditions daily forced him to a decision, says the writer.

Major H. T. Morshead the worst sufferer from fresibite, G. L. Mallory and another member of the party also were badly bitten, and several others less severely.

The correspondent quotes "one of the greatest authorities on Himalayas" as a saying that Bruce's "glorious failure" which excepted shipping board vessels along with foreign craft, so far as sea, and the proved conclusively that the sumalong with foreign craft, so far as sea stores are concerned, from the operation of the recent supreme court decision banning intransit liquor shipments.

Only a decision of a court could overturn any position the attorney general might take.
